The new primary law does away with conventions and forces all candidates out among the people to kiss the babies and eat the farmers' grub. This will be rather hard on Dave Ball, he is so dog gone ugly he will frighten all the babies and sour all the milk on the farmers' table. —Rolla Sharpshooter.

The price of paper continues to go up steadily and we are told the low priced papers are confronted by a serious problem. In order to get the best of the continual raise a little we last week purchased a six months supply—four tons at $245. This is a big item with us and we mention it because we are going to "tighten up" a little also. If your subscription lags too much don't blame us if your name is dropped.

Another timely subject is courtesy. We know several large employers who consider it a serious offense if their employees fail to say "good morning" in acknowledgment when spoken to, or fail to answer fellow-employees, and in their places of business it is rightly followed by a discharge. There are people in this state who never seem to know whether or not they're going to answer when spoken to; or if their great toe pains them a little they feel justified in having the "dumps" and answering no one. This is also a self-injurious habit. If your body is racked with pain, grit your teeth and at least smile at the proper time.

Briefly stated the question that confronts the country is: Will the inequalities that may have arisen in the tariff by reason of changed conditions during the past ten years justify a campaign for revision, which is sure to check our industrial growth and development for the time being at least? If it can be shown that any industry, or any section of the country, or any class of people are suffering by reason of such inequalities in the tariff, then it would seem advisable to revise the schedule; but so long as all of the industries and all sections of the country and all classes of people are enjoying a greater degree of prosperity than ever before, it would seem advisable to "let well enough alone."—Carrollton Republican.

A very bad habit is being indulged in more every day—telling lies—and it is getting worse apparently for some persons seem to be unable to make true statements. A Marshall gentleman stepped into our office Friday evening and remarked: "I've never seen a copy of your paper," then went on making improbable statements until he said he had read a certain article in the Republican the week before. Ask a man what he is wearing and he will tell you differently nearly every time; ask him how he feels and he says and its an uncertainty; ask a woman how old she is or what she paid for her hat, and the answer will leave you farther from the truth probably than a wild guess. It's a contemptible habit, a dangerous and self-injurious one. Stop it.

The people of Camden county are much distressed over the published statements of lawlessness in that county for which there was no ground. The articles considered especially bad were published in the Globe-Democrat and Kansas City Journal and copied promiscuously by the country papers. While it is to be very much regretted that false and injurious statements are published by the metropolitan press when it is plain evidence that there is no truth in them, yet fortunately the public has learned to take what is found in the dailies with "a grain of salt." At least half of the "news" in the daily papers today has as much truth in it as the capital stock of a mining scheme has real value back of it—they're both full of "hot air."

An eastern paper recently sent a lady in very ordinary attire to most of the leading churches of Boston and New York in order to test their degree of hospitality. Her report was very interesting reading and showed that the churches in nearly every case were sadly deficient in this regard. While persons of good appearance and dress are usually accorded a hearty welcome, others are given a "cold shoulder." It is a known fact that the larger city churches are the worst sinners in this regard, while the remote country church is a big improvement. This spirit of the churches causes many to lose faith in them and in christianity, which is also wrong. The blame lies in the fact that there are in nearly every church persons who are more anxious to impress their own prominence than to promote the cause they represent, and it is these people—who usually contribute liberally, are well-to-do and feel themselves too good to mix with the ordinary—who are appointed as ushers, officers, etc. In view of these established facts it would be well for churches in general to abolish their ushers and appoint a social committee, or make a social committee out of the ushers by appointing ushers who are not afraid of the people the church is trying to reach.

INTER-STATE FAIR.

And Exposition at Kansas City

September 23d to October 5th.

The first annual fair of the Inter-State Fair & Exposition association will be given at Elm Ridge race track Kansas City, Mo., this fall, beginning September 23d and closing October 5th. Into these two weeks will be crowded a series of entertainments which in every respect eclipse anything of the kind ever seen in the West. There is no effort being made to compete with the various country fairs in this territory, for the Inter-State Fair is in a class by itself and the people within a radius of 200 to 300 miles of Kansas City may attend their respective county and district fairs and then come to Kansas City and see scores of features which none or all of the fairs they attended afforded.

As the name implies, the project is both a fair and exposition. The Kansas City fair of a dozen years ago or more was the great agricultural event of this section, but Kansas City has outgrown the purely agricultural fair, yet it is the logical place where the products and resources of the surrounding territory should be displayed. But Kansas City is to more than merely instruct the half million visitors who will be here in the resources of Kansas, Missouri Arkansas, and the new state of Oklahoma. In addition to the manifold exhibits of every imaginable sort, floral and manufacturers' displays and all the varied features of a fair which embrace the very best of all the big shows in this line, the Inter-State Fair will offer a mammoth series of open air acts and sensational vaudeville performances of which the great Parker Amusement show will be the greatest feature. The fair will be the greatest show in the West and the 250,000 people who will be here will be the greatest show in the West.

Every variety of taste in the matter of entertainment has been catered to and the race feature special care has been taken to furnish an abundance of this delightful form of sport. Ten great races will be carried out each day of the fair. Joe Joker, the famous "guideline horse," that races without bridle or driver, will be one of the interesting features on the side. There will be a big motor display which can not fail to interest thousands of visitors in addition to numbers of other exhibits and attractions too numerous to mention. The fair will be the greatest show in the West and the 250,000 people who will be here will be the greatest show in the West.

star attraction at night.

Some idea of the facilities with which the fair association is equipped may be gathered from the fact that it has a long lease on the half million dollar plant of the Elm Ridge race track, the most complete race track in the world and which combines all the facilities of a race track with all the elegancies of a gentlemen's club. In addition to this, forty acres has been set aside for purely exposition purposes, so that no fair in the west will have such spacious accommodations. No matter how large the crowds, there cannot possibly be any crowding, for the street railway accommodations will land 100,000 people at the grounds with ease during the day and evening and once at the grounds there is ample room for all to witness the various races and acts and to inspect the countless displays of all sorts.

As showing the scope of the exhibits already planned for, the state of Missouri has appropriated $5000 for its display and every dollar of this will be spent for exhibits, as nothing will have to be spent for buildings, booths or room. Independently of the immense exhibits of the state at the St. Louis world's fair and those collected by the state board of agriculture, numerous counties and individuals in the state will make displays competing for the liberal premiums offered. It might be stated in passing that the premium and prize list for the fair aggregates $75,000 and the money is in bank, the fair association being an incorporated body, so that exhibitors are amply protected in this respect.

The state of Kansas will be represented by a varied exhibit from the agricultural college at Manhattan, in addition to the numerous county and individual displays. For instance, Linn county has already prepared an extensive display and Leavenworth county will be represented with a similar display. These are only selected at random to illustrate the scope of the fair in this line.

Then Kansas City itself is to be considered. All the big merchants and implement dealers have applied for space for big display of goods, enabling visitors in half a day to see stocks which it would require a week and much loss of energy to cover the same ground other wise. The manufacturers will show what is made here; the jobbers will display their stocks and the general merchants and big department stores will have displays that will be both instructive and ornamental, being a complete review of the commercial resources of Kansas City.

Many interesting features in the shape of model kitchens, model dairies, the latest scientific appliances in connection with farming and dairying, will be provided. In a word the entire resources of the great Southwest will be at the disposal of the visitors to this great fair and on top of all this will be the great open air vaudeville acts, the Parker exposition shows and the big fireworks spectacle at night. The latter is a spectacle requiring over 200 people in acting out the story of the siege, capture and destruction of Jericho, the famous city of Bible times which fell at the blast of the ram's horns. This spectacle will be intensely interesting, not to say exciting, for the final destruction of the doomed city will be accompanied by a display of fireworks that will be thrilling in the extreme.

Every variety of taste in the matter of entertainment has been catered to and the race feature special care has been taken to furnish an abundance of this delightful form of sport. Ten great races will be carried out each day of the fair. Joe Joker, the famous "guideline horse," that races without bridle or driver, will be one of the interesting features on the side. There will be a big motor display which can not fail to interest thousands of visitors in addition to numbers of other exhibits and attractions too numerous to mention. The fair will be the greatest show in the West and the 250,000 people who will be here will be the greatest show in the West.

May be a Good Thing

The editor of this paper owns 40 acres of land in San Diego county, Cal., that is causing him much uneasiness at present as he learned Saturday that the newly discovered gem fields are in the immediate vicinity. San Diego county is now considered the richest section on earth in gems of different kinds—kunzite being a new one found there. It is of about the same value as a diamond and found nowhere else.

The land referred to came into our possession in an unusual way. Four men connected with the St. Louis fire and police department purchased a 160-acre olive farm and intended to make their fortunes; but soon after two died and the farm was divided. One of the men that died was the editor's brother and when it came to settling up the estate in 1897 there were no bidders for the California land and there being a mortgage on it, we secured it for a small sum by assuming the mortgage. We soon after made a ten-year lease to Wm. Wilkerson, of St. Louis, who also died on his way out. After that the land was left idle and raised nothing but taxes. It has also raised our hopes a little the past week, and if it succeeds in raising the amount of the original mortgage we will have no complaint.

We are so much opposed to mining schemes that we made it a rule not to accept advertisement of them in this paper so that none of our readers would get caught, but we are almost inclined to organize a company to prospect and "let our readers in on the ground floor!"

Catarrh Cannot be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the spot of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best water known, combined with the most refined purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Read for testimonials this free.
